CHORAL HARMONY.

THE design of this publication is to furnish Singing Societies, and Choirs with a collection containing a sufficient variety of such Sacred Music as may be easily performed, and is both pleasing and useful. A considerable portion of each Number will consist of New Music, or of such as is not common in this country ; some part of the work however, will be devoted to the republication of such pieces as are really meritorious, and come within its design, notwithstanding they may be already generally known. Utility will be a leading object in the selection and arrangement of the music, and not only musical taste and scientific accuracy, but also the present state of the art, vocal execution, and especially the legitimate effects of Sacred Music will be kept steadily in view.

The present number may be considered as a specimen of the work, both as it respects its contents, and the style of its execution. It will be frequently if the demand should warrant it, in Numbers, averaging 24 pages each. In each Volume a Title Page and Index will be given. The price to those who become responsible

The following is an extract from a review of this work published in the Harmonicon at London. "It is a work containing one of the most complete collections of Psalmody that was ever embodied. It demonstrates the advancement of the Americans in Music. Without pretending to have looked deeply into each of the tunes, contained in this volume, we can assert of the many we have examined that they are well arranged, that the harmonies are faultless, and that the Devotional Character of both Music and Words has been attended to most strictly."
